

A Duel Imminent.

London, Nov. 22.—Arthur Meyer, editor of the Globe and Mail, and the Royalist newspaper of Paris, will probably challenge William Wadsworth, editor of the Calgary Herald, to a duel if such a challenge will receive some attention.

The challenge was received by publications appearing in Mr. Astor's London paper, the Fall Mail Gazette. It was sent to the editor of the Herald and up to the public in its next issue. "It is our opinion," the editor of the Globe and Mail referred to as "the son of a man who people say is in Paris."

The Gazette does not care to name it as the vallet de chambre of a royalist who was portrayed by Zola in his novel "Nana."

"A poor start it is," commented the editor of the Herald. "Meyer back. He is the honored guest of the best royalist saloons of the Empire."

Meyer is regard as a duelist also came into publicity in the series of articles in the Globe and Mail which care that he fought unfairly with Dr. George Ferrill, a journalist, setting his adversary to the wall with his right hand. Dr. Ferrill, however, seriously refused to fight further, making no move.

Mr. Astor has already made up all possible challenges from Meyer in the statement that Meyer is beyond the law.

Meyer has no recourse save to sue the editor and get a trial, a series of which formed the real basis of the Fall Mail Gazette's attack.

THE KOH-I-NOOR

To Adorn Queen Alexandra's Crown at Coronation

London, Nov. 19.—King Edward has decided to have the Koh-i-Noor diamond set in a crown which is open to insult from any one who may care to do so. The author of the House of Cards has given the ground that Meyer is not the sort of person with whom honorable men fight.

Meyer therefore has no recourse save to sue the editor and get a trial, a series of which formed the real basis of the Fall Mail Gazette's attack.

The celebrated diamond was the most valuable possession of Mahomed Shah, the last Mughal chieftain of Lahore. When he died in 1707, he left his wife and seven slave girls burn themselves to death rather than let the rites of Juggernaut be carried out in all their cruelty.

The diamond left the jewel, which had long been coveted by the prince of India, to be worn by the chief idol of the Parquette and seen James II.

It was the East India Company, whose directors presented it to the Queen. The history of the stone is known since 1804. It was treasured by George III, who gave it to his wife, Queen Charlotte, as a peacock adorning his famous pearl胸针.

On the death of Mahomed Shah by Nabi Shah, in 1728, the great diamond was not found among his effects in his turban, but Nadir, leader of the Afghans, found it and bore it away as a sign of reconciliation.

He was succeeded and when Nadir caught sight of the gem he exclaimed "Koh-i-Noor," or "Mountain of light." He had it mounted and born. It now weighs 106 carats, but before recent was of 106 carats and 10 grains. It is said that Nadir believed it to bring ill luck to its possessor.

BULLER'S MEMORIAL

To the Editor of The Herald:

It has been decided to take steps to commémorare in the country of Canada the services rendered by General Sir H. H. Bulwer, V.C., during a period of 20 years.

The movement has no party aims, nor does it seek any status than that of a simple thanksgiving.

For the Two Thousand and the Usual Number of Guests

In a small Canadian town there was a girl who was a "Rallying Eye" among 4000 but a target for all the ruffians in the place. She was a good girl, however, and that she had no other sex never got out of mind the Hammer Club, a club of 1200 boys, who had been her admirers. One evening he said to her, "If you let me have him, I'll have him." And he arrived at the house he met one of his friends, who had come to see a sick man on a visit. While Miss Friend looked him in the eye and said, "I don't know what you mean, but that is such a thing as being too many."

Her friend overpowered him and carried him to the Altar, where he never knew the first time he had seen for the Friend.

Thus a faint heart has saved many a fair lady.

and through fear, he says he entered upon a career of crime and became a notorious promulgator of various disreputable acts. At Weston, W. Va., they killed an old man named John, who had a sum of money, which the three men divided equally between them. Hereupon they buried him, and devoured the bait. The little fellow was so alarmed that he ran away from home and was not found until Tuesday.

IT STRIKES THE HEART

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means death. This disease can only be cured when the heart is removed from the blood by the heroic action of Dr. Chase. Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills make the kidney and heart gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a day, 25 cents a box.

Queen Alexandra has ordered some thousands of good low price silver-mounted, and upon the mount of each one is to be engraved the name of the donor, to encourage the South African troops now serving in South Africa at Christmas.

When the bill struck next year, if the same levy as the Protestant school would not pass, the money collected would be a higher rate would have to be struck.

Alderman Young: "Why not allow the separate school to appeal to a court of equity themselves?"

The mayor: "We can do the work ourselves."

Mr. Marshall, Alderman Young, seconded by Alderman Enderley, that the payment be made to the city treasurer and be forwarded to the minister of interior.

It was decided it not to take the case.

Certain sewers and sidewalks were recommended and the committee agreed to the same, and the appropriation was almost exhausted.

Alderman Spafford, said that the committee was willing to take any evidence obtainable, but Mr. Bennett would not be present under the circumstances.

Alderman Young thought that the committee was however, and accepted by Alderman Emerson, that the report be referred back.

Alderman Emerson said that he had heard a great deal in the city about the rough handling of people by the police and the committee to have a thorough investigation.

He said that he was a member of the committee in question, and that on the first evening, when the police had come, one appeared except the constable and they did not go on with the investigation, and he thought that it was one-sided.

The next day he went to see Mr. Fulham, and as he would not bring his evidence without bringing his wife along, the committee wrote stating that the application of the C.P.R. to erect a station under the name of Lethbridge was granted in accordance with the investigation.

A communication was received from the secretary of the interior department, who remitted the leasing of a patent to the public plan on section 16.

Alderman Young: "It is only fair that the police be allowed to make an investigation."

Alderman Enderley: "We have the right to do what we like with our property, and the absolute denial of Constantine Fraser is the other side of the story."

Alderman Underwood: "I think that the whole thing hinges upon whether we can get the police to do what we wanted them to do."

Alderman Spafford: "I think that the police will do what we want them to do."

Alderman Enderley: "It is only fair that the police be allowed to make an investigation."

Alderman Underwood: "I think that the police will do what we want them to do."

was a little lower than Stephens average, but that could be explained by raising the building and doing some work on the exterior of the building.

Alderman O'Sullivan: "The Ottawa city hall is raised."

Alderman Spafford: "They referred back to committee."

The Fire Alarm System.

Alderman Hattfeld stated that before the next meeting of the council he hoped to have the alarm system house measure adopted that would provide a severe penalty for those tampering with the alarm boxes.

Alderman Underwood asked if the alarm boxes were placed in the front entrance.

Alderman Spafford: "We have working very quietly, but we expect they have placed in a very few days."

A bylaw to raise $500 by the front entrance was introduced through various stages and passed.

Alderman Spafford, seconded by Alderman Hattfeld, proposed that the alarm boxes be placed in the rear entrance.

Alderman O'Sullivan: "We have working very quietly, but we expect they have placed in a very few days."
